Forecast For The United Kingdom
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 1600 on Friday 11 Jun 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 1800 and 0600

Headline:
Sunny and very warm this weekend apart from far north.

This Evening and Tonight:
Low cloud, drizzle and hill and coastal fog in the south-west clearing, then most places dry with clear periods. Some mist or fog patches in the south for a time later. Breezy in far north with some showers.

Saturday:
Fine and dry with plenty of sunshine for many areas, although early showers in the far north and turning cloudier in the north-west with some drizzle later.

Outlook for Sunday to Tuesday:
Remaining fine and dry for most and becoming hot, especially in the southeast. Always cloudier and breezier in the northwest with some rain here, especially Sunday.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.